Eastern New Mexico Water Utility Authority Hires Mark Howl as Executive Director to Lead Ute Pipeline Efforts

Clovis, NM – The Eastern New Mexico Water Utility Authority (ENMWUA) Board has approved an employment agreement with Mark Howl of Portales, New Mexico, as its new Executive Director. Mr. Howl brings a wealth of experience that will advance our mission to secure a renewable water source and a sustainable future for the region.

After an extensive search process, Mr. Howl distinguished himself through not only his experience in operations and leadership experience but also for his deep-rooted connection to Eastern New Mexico. His passion for the Ute Pipeline reflects the commitment you would expect from someone who calls this region home.

Mark holds a Bachelor of Science degree in Mechanical Engineering Technology and an MBA. His background in logistics and operations, combined with strong leadership skills and local insight, will be invaluable as ENMWUA advances the Ute Pipeline project.

"We are thrilled to welcome Mark Howl to the team," stated ENMWUA Chairman Mike Morris. "His expertise and vision align perfectly with our values and objectives. We look forward to the contributions he will make as our Executive Director."

"As a Portales resident, Mark understands the critical importance of the Ute Pipeline to our communities and future water security," said ENMWUA Vice-Chairman Jim Lucero.

Please join us in welcoming Mark Howl and wishing him great success in his new role.
